Orderly demonstrators make demands of City

Approximately 65 marchers, including men, women and children, staged the first organized "demonstration", complete with banners, in Campbell's City Hall on Monday night and scored points with the councilmen because of their orderly behavior and brief presentation of their problems.

Following the presentation of "demands" by Paul Roybal, of 101 Gilman Ave., leader of United Progreso Arriba, sponsors of the march, the Council agreed to meet with representatives on Tuesday, July 1, at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the basic problems, specifically better housing.

Roybal, in addition to orally presenting three conditions, filed a memo with City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan which was read into the minutes.

United Progreso Arriba asked (1) that the City stop all demolition of old houses; (2) that the City look into all alternatives that would provide either temporary or permanent housing for the low income segment; and (3) that the City Council meet with them within three days.

Roybal's presentation was subdued but included some implications with respect to future action. These included: "We are prepared to go all the way...", "We will be forced to take other action...", "We will not be pushed any more"...

Other speakers during the half-hour demonstration included residents of Santa Cruz and Sunnyvale.

United Progreso Arriba is opposing the city's program of removing sub-standard buildings without first providing adequate housing for those people who had occupied them.

The organization is especially critical of the civic center project where the City has acquired the needed land for the new city hall and library that will be constructed next year.

Mayor Homer Hyde at all times during the session kept the meeting under control. Neither he nor his fellow councilmen attempted to refute any of the statements made.

The meeting ended without discord of any description.

The demonstrators filed out with their banners and all during a five-minute recess and headed back to where they had started from, the United Progreso Arriba center at 43 W. Rincon at St. Lawrence Episcopal Church.

The marchers stayed on the sidewalk during the entire eight-block walk from the center to the City Hall. They crossed Winchester at Rincon, went up Winchester to Campbell Ave. and took the north sidewalk on Campbell to Central and thence to the City Hall.

Junior college district may call bond election for next October

West Valley College may schedule a bond election on Oct. 14, 1969, if the recommendation made last week by the college governing board is followed.

Dr. Wallace Hall, president of the college, reported that the State Education Code would require an election in 1970 in order to continue the authorization of the override tax for payment of tuition and lease of plant and equipment currently levied by the district.

Hall also explained that both the general and primary elections next year could restrict the timing of a West Valley bond election during 1970.

All three previous bond elections for the college district have been defeated at the polls.

Donald E. Lindstrom, board member, maintained that there was ample justification for holding a bond election as early as possible. He claimed that $2 million could have been saved had the last bond measure passed in 1966, pointing out the rising costs of labor, construction material, real estate, and property taxes as reasons for moving quickly on the bond measure.

He added that many of the lease agreements for rented facilities for the college had taken sharp jumps in the past year.

The board then recommended that the county board of supervisors and registrar of voters be advised that the joint junior college district

INTER-CITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT--Dr. Edward J. Rogers, political science professor at San Jose State and a long-time member of the Campbell City Council, is the new president of the Inter-City Council, comprised of representatives from all the cities in the county.

Rogers, who was elected to the City Council in 1960 and reelected twice since that time, served as mayor of Campbell in 1967.

He served as vice-president of the Inter-City group last year. Vice-president of the Inter-City unit is Dick Hayden, Sunnyvale councilman and instructor at West Valley College. Rogers and his wife, Madeline, and three sons, reside at 150 Branbury.

OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

ONE SUNDAY IN MARCH (March 23), the parishioners of St. Lucy's were asked at all the six Masses to fill out a questionnaire during the time that is generally devoted to the sermon.

The questionnaire was quite comprehensive and covered a wide field and was not limited to only the religious side.

The answers to some of the questions were quite revealing. We thought they would be of interest to both Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

Father John Lally, pastor of St. Lucy's, said he had no objection if we touched on some of the points of the survey.

OBVIOUSLY SOME OF the Masses "drew" better than others on that particular Sunday.

The 7 p.m. service, known as the "folk Mass" in some circles and at which there is a predominance of the younger set, had 1176 in attendance.

Almost a full house, as the church seats 1200.

Of course, everyone who attended the services on that Sunday did not fill out a questionnaire.

But we noted there were only two who admitted to the "over 71" age group compared to 417 from the 12-40 category at the 7 p.m. Mass.

(There were 2852 survey returns of the total 4472 people who were in attendance that Sunday.)

The survey showed also that 1814 resided in the parish and 721 did not. The 7 p.m. Mass had 83 visitors and 220 who did not live in the parish.

But we are not going to attempt to go through the entire survey.

But we think some of the highlights are interesting.

FOR EXAMPLE, THE survey indicated that the people were pretty evenly divided on the question of whether the sermons were inspiring, with 1368 thinking they were and 1262 thinking otherwise.

We imagine Father Lally and his two associates discussed that in some length among themselves.

And a big majority (2031 to 1262) thought the present liturgy at St. Lucy's was to their satisfaction.

We were quite interested in two questions that pertained to the community in general:

(1) In answer to "Do you feel community spirit?", 1260 answered "yes" and 1095 "no".

And (2) "Are we doing enough to make Campbell a better city?": There were 1323 who thought they were while 561 thought otherwise.

According to the survey returns, 835 considered themselves liberals; 1337 moderates and 319 conservatives. (There were 209 "liberals" at the 7 p.m. service and only 57 "conservatives with 265 "moderates".)

-0-

MOST OF THOSE ATtending the Masses on that Sunday had been in the parish for at least five years (1343) and only 297 reported they had been in the parish for one year or less.

Of the total reporting, 1130 were born in California and 1358 other places. (Only 169 reported they had been born outside the United States.)

IN THE JOB STATUS category, 1079 reported they were employed with 480 of them within the city. The commuters were evenly divided, 555 to 505.

There were 773 listed "homemakers" attending the services that Sunday.

A vast majority (1896 to

Council action

Outhouses stay on Creek bank

Campbell's notorious "outhouse row" on Los Gatos Creek in full sight of the freeway will remain for the time being, at least, as a result of the City Council action Monday night, overturning a previous favorable ruling of the Planning Commission.

By a 3-2 vote, the City Council denied the request for interim zoning permit that would allow Courtesy Towing Service to conduct a storage yard for impounded vehicles at 282 Dillon Ave., a site on which the outhouses that are used for construction projects have long been displayed.

Actually, however, it was the applicant, Mrs. Veronica Coen, owner of Courtesy Towing Service, through her attorney, Jack Dawson, who put the kibash on the change in use.

The Gilman-Dillon-Railway area, of which the site is a part, is now "frozen" under an interim zoning to allow a study to be made of the area under the Neighborhood Planning Program, financed largely by the federal government.

It is hoped in official city circles that the results of the study will finally achieve unanimity in opinion as to how the area should be developed, i.e., multiple housing or industrial, etc.

The "freeze" was put on it so that the City would have control of the type of construction that would be allowed during the study period.

Permits for building can be allowed when approved by the Planning Commission and City Council, if the buildings are of a "temporary" nature so that they would not conflict with any proposed future development plan.

And that's where the rub came Monday night.

The Planning Commission had approved by a 6-1 vote the storage yard provided the outhouses were first removed and a 10-foot high fence constructed.

However, condition "8" of the permit approved by the Planning Commission granted the use for only one year subject to renewal for an additional year.

Attorney Dawson claimed that it was not economically feasible for his client to make any substantial capital improvements on site for such a short period of time. He sug-

New city budget goes into final study sessions

Tonight (Wednesday) the City Council takes on the public works department in the final budget study session before the adoption of the $3.7 million preliminary budget on Monday, June 30.

Although public works takes a bigger slice of the overall budget than any other one department (almost $900,000), much of the money comes from gas tax funds and many of the projects have already been committed by the city.

In the budget sessions so far, the City Council has gone along in most cases with the recommendations made by City Manager Bob Stephens and Jeff Whitaker, finance director, which were somewhat less than the requests of the department heads.

Largely because an $11,000 IBM word-processing unit was eliminated, the Council to

Low-income group sponsors low-cost housing program

Approximately 100 interested citizens (adjacent photo) on Sunday learned that a special building process, called the CED-R-TEC system, will be used to construct low-cost housing, under the guidance of a non-profit community development corporation.

On display in the Fellowship Hall of the United Methodist Church Sunday afternoon where the meeting was held was a model of the type of housing proposed and a module wall panel showing the pre-assembled material. (Ed Rider proposed and standing by it.)

The local corporation sponsoring the project is called United Community Institute (UCI). Election of directors of the corporation is the responsibility of United Progreso Arriba, which was formed in 1967 to combat the problems (especially housing) affecting poverty-stricken people in the area.

According to Ed Rider, chairman of UCI, Dean S. Wright, inventor of the CED-R-TEC system has granted United Community Institute a license to manufacture, sell and construct low cost houses using the CED-R-TEC system.

Now being established, according to the leaders in the movement, is the UNI-TEC Corporation which will include Wright and other private investors. This new corporation will manufacture the building components.

According to the brochure distributed at the meeting Sunday, UCI, in addition to

Campbell conscious

The Campbell Press has plugged for years the need for total involvement in this community by the citizens and civic organizations, if we are to achieve the objectives that are necessary to make this a better community in which to live or work.

The Press has also maintained that it is necessary to have cooperation between the citizens and the city administration as well as between the city administration and local civic or service organizations in community projects, so that we all can pull together.

We were well aware that there are those who have maintained that the "City of Campbell only exists in the mind of the editor of this newspaper". They seem to care less about any improvements or any city identity project that this newspaper fosters or supports.

But on two distinct occasions within recent years, the citizens of the City of Campbell have shown via the ballot box that they do believe there IS a Campbell and that they are proud to be a part of the community.

We refer, of course, to the $2,600,000 city improvement bond issue that was passed in October, 1967 and the $625,000 park bond measure that received the overwhelming support of the voters on June 10.

In our biased way, we are convinced that these votes are clear-cut evidence that the people of this community have tremendous faith in it and whatever the future holds for the City.

Unfortunately, a number of organizations and individuals involved in Campbell have been slow to recognize that this showing at the polls is an eloquent mandate of what the citizens of the community want.

We were disturbed on occasion during the recent park bond election campaign that some civic leaders had a tendency to refer to the dedicated, conscientious and sincere campaign workers as "they", overlooking the fact that what these citizens were doing was for the benefit of all concerned. It of course, should have been "we" instead of "they".

For example, one time we heard one councilman say "YOU people had better pass that bond measure, for it will be the last chance YOU will probably have".

We took exception to that remark, not because of the "last chance" bit but because of the reference to "You people".

Our point is, of course, that we were all in this together and that the park bond campaign was not the special province of one segment of the community.

That attitude, we also noticed, was also true on the part of some of the local service or civic groups.

In some instances, we must admit, that such an attitude is excusable for some members of the service clubs in the area.

In more cases than we care to enumerate, the only contact some of the members have with Campbell is when they attend the weekly luncheon meeting.

This is unfortunate but true.

Therefore, it follows that to generate civic enthusiasm among such a group is almost a hopeless task.

In no way are we criticizing the excellent work that is done by the service clubs as a whole. That would be silly.

Their youth projects as well as other commendable civic programs are well known.

We are merely saying that when it comes to the basic fundamentals of a City of Campbell project, those members with divided community loyalties cannot have the same civic enthusiasm as those who live and work in the community.

To a degree that same principle holds true in the Chamber of Commerce. But here the goal of all the CofC membership is basically the same, i.e., to build a better economic base for the area and the CofC covers a much wider area than the city limits.

Yet we are disappointed that neither the service clubs nor the CofC as well as some city officials have recognized the "built-in" public relation value to the community that the dramatic park bond victory on June 10 has meant to the area, the community and the city.

The passage of the $625,000 park bond measure by a 74% margin in face of the so-called poor bond climate and other negative factors, gained for this city a recognition that could not be purchased or promoted in any other way.

What we are saying in effect is that full use of this victory by the citizens should be used in promotional projects.

We also submit that the Chamber of Commerce should recognize the public relation and community relation value of this and cultivate it to the fullest. It is not often that such a promotional potential is offered on a silver platter.

336) reported that St. Lucy's was a friendly parish and about the same percentage (1856 to 245) reported they felt welcome.

In answer to whether St. Lucy's should do more for the poor, 1213 thought the parish should while 187 didn't think so.

And in answering "Should we do anything about social issues?", 1068 said "yes", 580 said "no" and 629 "didn't know".

You will agree, we are sure, that these questions and answers provide an insight that could be helpful in many ways, provided one can figure out what conclusions can be drawn.

We are the first to admit that seldom does anything really tangible come out of surveys.

Yet we still thought the results of this one were interesting.

And we thought you might agree.

Besides we had been looking at it ever since it was released, trying to figure out how to report on it.

ONE OF THE CROSSES we bear (quite lightly, thank you) is that long ago we realized that, when a community newspaper like The Campbell Press expounds and supports to great length editorially, it is taken for granted by its readers.

That applies also to the publicity this paper gives any local project.

But when the metropolitan press (San Jose Merc-News) recognizes anything in Campbell of a progressive civic nature, that's another story. People brag about it.

Now, don't get us wrong.

We recognize our plebian situation and realize that The Press is playing in a different league and ball park than our big brothers in San Jose.

We are almost as pleased as the next guy when our high and mighty neighbor reluctantly, grudgingly and somewhat condescendingly sees fit to recognize Campbell's existence.

Still it would be contrary to our nature not to feel a little piqued when some of our fellow conspirators in making a better Campbell jubilantly call our attention to what the Merc or News has done.

Editorially speaking, that is.

AFTER THE SMASHING victory at the polls in Campbell in the $625,000 park bond election, it would have been difficult, of course, for our friendly neighbor to ignore this community.

It was an achievement of the citizens worthy of note, so our friends (?) in the big city almost had to take note.

For those who happened to turn in late, we are happy to report that the San Jose Mercury paid its editorial respects to Campbell on June 14 with editorial "Campbell's Good Example on Parks".

Still the Merc's editorial had a slight taint of the old feeling before the proper respect was paid and we quote:

"Inevitable though it was, the transition of a Campbell from a tiny, orchard-surrounded community into an urban area has not been easy on the eye of the casual beholder. One had to love the place to think it was pretty...

"As Campbell continues to grow, however, there is a new trend in which esthetics plays a part. A parks program is at the heart of this movement. Campbell residents this week showed they like the idea and are willing to back it with their tax money.....

"Campbell voters provided a good example for all of urban Santa Clara Valley....."

NOT TO BE OUTDONE by its journalistic bedfellow, the San Jose News followed on June 17 with a similar editorial entitled "Campbell Eloquent".

To quote again in part:

"People want parks.

"Residents of Campbell last week illustrated this old maxim, which a surprising number of politicians forget.

"A parcel of land that tentative plans showed as the heart of a Rincon area park was ticketed for apartment development instead. The voters saved it for park purposes by approving a bond issue to purchase it.

"The vote margin was almost three to one. That is impressive in a period of rising taxes and rising public skepticism.

"As this area fills up with people the need for more parks becomes ever more pressing. And the people want them, as the Campbell vote eloquently demonstrated."

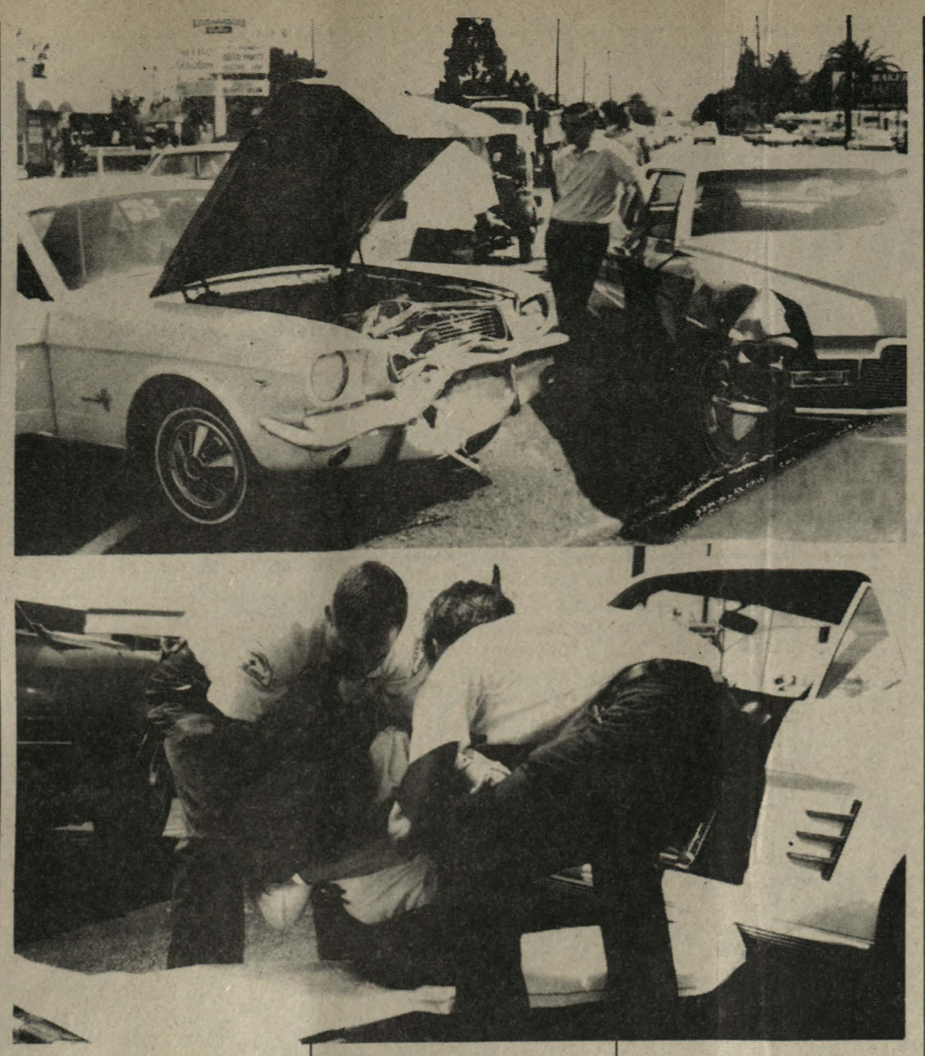
WE THOUGHT THOSE somewhat restrained tributes were especially satisfying in face of the item that had appeared just a short time before in the column "The Lee Side" written by Leigh Weimers, a would-be humorist, which also appears on the Merc's editorial page.

Weimers had suggested that Campbell had already gone out of existence but didn't know it.

Maybe Weimers' attempt to be funny actually helped the park bond measure.

A guy will do anything sometimes to fill a column.

Or had you noticed?



TWO INJURED--Two women were injured Friday afternoon when the '66 Ford driven by Evelyn L. Cano collided with a '68 Cadillac driven by Neil Joseph Desmond at the corner of Campbell and Bascom Ave. Both Mrs. Cano and her passenger, Malene Faust, were taken by ambulance to the Campbell Community Hospital and have since been released. Both cars suffered major damage, as seen in the top photo while in the bottom picture ambulance attendants are lowering one of the victims to a stretcher at the scene of the accident.

New city budget

date has cut about $4000 from the recommended preliminary budget submitted by Stephens.

Because the Council has a strict policy that there must be a $50,000 reserve fund at the close of each fiscal year, more cuts in the budget will have to be made at the final adoption in August. Unless, of course, the actual income exceeds the estimates by that much.

The preliminary budget only shows a $1,250 in the estimated surplus on July 1, 1970.

Somewhat reluctantly the Council last Wednesday approved the allocation of $12, 500 for the Chamber of Commerce promotional activities for the next fiscal year.

However, the approval is subject to the results of a conference that will take place between the CofC directors and the Council. At the conference the promotional programs which the Council desires for the next year will be specified and estimates made as to the funds that will be needed.

Both Police Chief John Morgan and Fire Chief George Maxwell made pitches at the budget session for additional personnel.

City Manager Stephens, in his attempt to keep the budget in line, had eliminated the additional personnel from his recommendation but suggested that the two chiefs could make their pleas to the Council, if they desired. They did.

Morgan asked for two more men (bringing the department up to 31) to aid in crime prevention work.

Maxwell asked for three more (bringing the department up to 28), emphasizing that the present shifts needed the extra men.

The Council, however, went along with Stephens. However, Morgan gained an extra $1000 in his vehicle operating budget from the Council and Maxwell $200 in his promotional expense account.

Otherwise the city manager's recommendations went through untouched.

In most cases, the preliminary budget took into consideration the money spent in the previous year with nominal increases.

However, in the case for the Civic Improvement Committee (mostly for the beautification unit), Stephens recommended (and the Council approved) a hike in the allocation from $504 last year to $1,100 for the next fiscal year.

gested an indefinite period for the permit.

But the City Council majority felt such a period was unrealistic and could complicate matters in the future, whenever the zoning was changed, although it was agreed by all that the outhouses would be removed if the permit was approved.

On the vote, Councilmen Bill Smeed, Ed Rogers and Mayor Homer Hyde favored the denial of the permit without prejudice with Councilmen Dean Chamberlin and Ralph Doetsch on the other side.

At the same meeting, Jack Armstrong, retiring board member, emphasized the need for reaching all the culturally deprived students of the community.

Rick chose his brother Ron as his best man, while his other brothers, Drew and John with Tom Wilson ushered. Following the ceremony duel receptions were held in San Jose and Carmichael with over 200 friends and relatives attending both functions.

end your ice follies.

Get a no frost refrigerator-freezer.

Nobody has to do the old song and dance with sloppy, melted ice anymore. Nor the pushing and shoving and chipping and cracking that went with defrosting ... along with spills on the floor. So why do it?

New refrigerator-freezers don't form frost—anywhere. And with no frost, there's no defrosting chore. New thin-wall refrigerator-freezers provide more storage space in the same floor space—they're bigger inside but no bigger outside. And automatic ice-makers make ice tray bother a thing of the past.

See your dealer for a no frost refrigerator-freezer and end your ice follies forever. PG and E

Safeway makes changes in area store managers

LEONARD HEIDEL
--New Safeway Manager

Six Santa Clara County employees of Safeway Stores, Incorporated now have new assignments as a result of a series of management changes completed this week.

In one series of changes Jesse Eagerton, manager of the 1650 South Bascom, Campbell unit, has been appointed manager of a Redwood City Safeway.

He has been succeeded by Leonard Heidel, formerly manager of the Kooser and Blossom Hill Roads, San Jose Safeway. John MacTavish, formerly assistant manager of the 470 N. Santa Cruz, Los Gatos Safeway, has been promoted to store manager succeeding Heidel.

Eagerton started his Safeway career in 1949 as a food clerk in Napa. He was promoted to assistant store manager in 1958 and to store manager in 1960. A native of New Hope, Alabama, Eagerton and his wife, Thelma, make their home in Campbell with their two children--Thomas and Diane.

Heidel, who makes his home in San Jose with his wife, Ellen, was born in Alberta, Canada. He joined Safeway as a food clerk in 1941 in Seattle. He transferred to Santa Clara County in 1958. He was promoted to assistant manager in Campbell in early 1959 and in June of that year was appointed manager of an Oakland Safeway store. He has since managed stores in Los Gatos, Aptos, San Francisco and San Jose.

MacTavish first started with Safeway in 1953 as a food clerk in Southern California. He left the Company in 1960, returning in 1966 as a food clerk in San Jose. He was promoted to assistant manager of a Los Gatos store in January 1968.

MacTavish and his wife, Nellie, reside in San Jose with their four children--John, Brenda, Kathleen, and Arlene.

In another series of changes C. Arthur Hines, formerly manager of the Safeway unit located at 1033 The Alameda, San Jose, has been promoted to manager of the Homestead and Kiely, Santa Clara store. He has been succeeded in San Jose by Jerome Kowalski, formerly assistant store manager in Milpitas.

Hines grew up in Thayer, Kansas, completed high school in Glendale, Arizona, and following service in the U. S. Navy from 1944 to 1946, started his Safeway career as a food clerk in Arizona. He transferred to the San Jose area in 1964. He was appointed assistant store manager in 1967 and store manager in 1969. Hines and his wife, Joan, live in San Jose and have three children--Marylnn, Almira, and Joy.

Kowalski grew up in Detroit, Michigan and, after serving in the U. S. Air Force from 1953 to 1957, came to the West Coast and started his Safeway career as a food clerk in Colma in 1962. He was appointed assistant store manager in 1966. He served in that capacity in San Francisco and San Jose until 1968 when he was promoted to the position of dairy merchandiser for the San Francisco Retail Division. He returned to the retail stores as assistant store manager in Milpitas in April 1969. He now makes his home in San Jose.

Gerald Anderson, formerly assistant manager of the Prospect and Saratoga Roads, San Jose store, has taken over the management of the 2641 Mc Kee Road San Jose unit.

Anderson was employed by Safeway as a food clerk in 1959 in Monterey. After gaining experience in the Eureka and San Jose areas he was appointed assistant store manager in 1966. A native of Calistoga, he now makes his home in San Jose with his wife, Judy, and sons--Marc and Jon.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

The question of how much we should spend for defense is a complex, legitimate issue. But unfortunately the debate has degenerated into an overly emotional exercise in name calling. One side accuses the other of being tools of the "military-industrial complex" while the other loosely labels those who favor defense cuts as unpatriotic advocates of unilateral disarmament. Neither approach is constructive.

Nine years ago President John F. Kennedy was elected because of public concern over a non-existent missile gap. Today, nine years later, there is, in fact, a tremendous strategic gap between ourselves and Russia, but American public opinion has done a 180° turn and resists efforts to close that gap.

Our public relations media, particularly television, and politicians who react as followers of public opinion instead of rising to leadership, have helped to direct public opinion in this reversal. In addition the statements made by public officials over the past several years haven't helped. The persistently erroneous and optimistic predictions of Secretary McNamara about Vietnam and his unyielding policy in Southwest Asia have produced a massive distrust by Americans of their leaders. Ill-advised contracts like the TFX, the C5A, the Cheyenne Helicopter, all products of McNamara's obstinancy, have also eroded public faith.

Unfortunately, military men who were foreclosed from the decision making process by Secretary McNamara and his "whiz kids" are taking the rap. It was civilian mistakes, not those of military men, which are featured in today's headlines.

In cutting the military budget (and cut it we must) a few facts ought to be borne in mind. First, we should never forget that military preparedness has never gotten the United States into war, while lack of it has.

We should be wary of those who misuse statistics. It is not true as they allege that defense is taking an increasing share of our national output. This year the defense budget is 8.8% of total U. S. goods and services. In 1960 it was 8.7%.

Except for Vietnam, the current national defense budget would be $49 billion. This represents less actual buying power for defense needs than in 1960.

If we were to reduce our armed forces to the pre-Korean War level of 2.6 million men, the defense budget would be $36 billion without allowing a single penny for ammunition, weapons, or hardware. If, as some propose, we would raise military salaries in the lower enlisted ranks by $100 per man per month and improve fringe benefits to attract an all volunteer military service, defense costs would be just as high as they are today except for Vietnam--and this budget would still be without a single penny for ammunition, weapons, or hardware.

These figures clearly indicate that the issue isn't quite as simple as some would have us believe. Like the man who was lost in a crashing thunderstorm pleaded in his prayer, "We need more light and a little less noise."

YES office has jobs open

Girls—can you type 50 words per minute? Take shorthand at 100 words per minute? Just graduated from high school? Want to work in a legal office?

Then hurry to the phone and call 378-1666, the Youth Employment Service office. TWO jobs are going begging looking for two alert girls who want permanent jobs.

Other jobs open, preferably for members of minority racial groups, include fountain and restaurant help. And believe it or not, a long, long list of jobs for baby-sitters with their own transportation, is available at the YES office.

Judy Rothwell, student director, asks that teen-agers between the ages of 14 and 19, contact her at the YES office on Rincon Ave.

PLAY DAY - MAY 20

Over three hundred Blue Birds from Camp Fire District IV, which covers the Campbell High School district, enjoyed their annual play day at Vasona Park recently. Hot dogs, games and prizes were enjoyed. "Balloon" winners included Cindy Pohorski, Kay Morton, Luranda. The "Potato" race winners were Becky Cooke and Stacy MacDonald.

The big event of the day was chosing the May Day Queen. Miss Julie Burch, a member of Mrs. Iris Greaves' group from Blackford School, was chosen.

MARSHALL LANE

The fourth grade Camp Fire Girls in Mrs. Elaine Lafline's group tried something different this year in order to complete their requirements for their Trail Seekers award. Each girl took her dad on an overnight at New Brighton Beach. The group met early Saturday morning at the Laflin residence, with camping gear and fathers in tow.

After setting up camp at the beach, they enjoyed a hike gathered various shells and different forms of plant life along the way.

After dinner, cooked over an open fire, they had a singsong at which time they discovered that the fathers didn't know any of their songs and the girls didn't know the "old favorites" their fathers were singing.

TANDAMAYA HORIZON CLUB

Members of Tandamaya Horizon Club, Karen Dullea, Patty Murphy, Cathy Rotticci, Diane Quintarelli, Katie Sullivan and Lori Bender, went to visit Mrs. Elizabeth Ribble's weaving studio in Campbell during May. Mrs. Ribble has worked with Camp Fire Girls many, many years, and besides being interested in her looms, they enjoyed her story-telling of the area's "early days".

"SKI" KAVALESKI in his new store

"Ski" Kavaleski opens new furniture store in Campbell

Carol C. "Ski" Kavaleski, for many years associated with George Schneller in the Royal Furniture & Appliance store on Alum Rock Ave. in San Jose has moved the business to its new location at 287 E. Campbell Ave. The new location is the former home of the Spangler Furniture & Appliance store which recently sold out due to Spangler's retirement.

Kavaleski's store, of which he has been sole owner since 1967, was one of an entire block of stores forced to move out to make way for the new Interstate 280 which will cross Alum Rock Ave. just east of Jackson street.

Kavaleski brings years of experience in merchandising and selling to his new Campbell outlet, having been associated in the furniture and appliance business since his discharge from the Navy following a four-year stretch in the Korean War.

He is a native of Waltham, Mass., where he received his early education and training in the field in which he planned to make his career. While stationed at Moffett Field, he met Audrey Vargas, a native of the Niles area and they were married in 1956 following his discharge from the service. They now have two daughters at their new home on Ridge View Ave.

"Ski" said that his new Campbell store will feature such nationally known brands as RCA-Whirlpool, Norge, Motorola, Gibson, Admiral, Kelvinator, Maytag, Emerson and Olympic as well as the following furniture lines: Bailey-Schmidt, Bassett, Los Angeles Period, Custom Craft, Craft Line, Pillar, DeVille, Douglas, Brentwood and others.

Building slows down in city

At the end of the first five months of the year, the total value of building permits issued this year was barely ahead of last year, according to Wally Byron, city building official.

As of May 31, the total this year was $3,697,211 compared to $3,653,743 last year.

This May, according to the report, was far below May last year when $1,387,905 in permits were issued and this May only $537,742.

The startling fact this year, as far as building within the city limits is concerned, according to the report, is that since January 1, only one permit for a single family dwelling for $23,864 has been issued. Last year during the same period there had been 62 such permits for $1,344,201.

There were four duplex permits for $98,332 taken out this May and one multiple of 26 units for $250,003 for the biggest items on the monthly report. Two commercial ($47,987) and one industrial ($89,424) completed the new building permits plus one swimming pool for $3,000. Alterations and additions (13) came to $35,063.

Bobby Soxers hold half time awards day

Moreland Bobby Sox team members held their First-Half Awards Day, recently. The Kittens, managed by Marilyn Hume and coached by Carol Casteel were undefeated champs of the Minor League. The competition in the Major League proved very exciting and a play-off game between Joyce Bonetti's Tigers and Kathy Siino's Angels is needed to decide the Major League Champs.

Awards of Merit were given to Dawnette Alexander, Jeanne Fouts and Gail Kirkgaard by Don Western, league president for their rare triple play while playing on Bobbie Alexander's Cubs.

Prizes were awarded to Susan Bent of the Cougars in the Major Division and Lurene Yashirara of the Dodgers in the Minor Division for top sales in the annual Bobby Sox candy sale. Managers Gail McClure and Audrey Duckworth presented the awards.

A parents meeting was held before the award ceremony and Player Agent Dick Eckhoff, stated that the Moreland Bobby Sox will host this years tournament, to decide the Santa Clara Valley Bobby Sox Champs. Winners will go on to Buena Park in August for the state championship.

HONOR ROLL

A Campbell freshman at Eastern Washington State College, Carol M. Wittenberg, has been named to the EWSC spring quarter honor roll.

Mrs. Wittenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin D. Pilger, 1769 Silacci Dr., is an English major working for a bachelor of arts in education degree at EWSC.

OCCIDENTAL DEGREE

Norman Russell Carter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Carter, 2840 Gazelle Dr., received his A.B. degree from Occidental College in recent commencement exercises. Carter majored in diplomacy and world affairs, and was active in the Delta Phi Epsilon fraternity, Occidental Ecumenical Religious Council, Hiking club, Occidental Amigos and Model United Nations. He plans a career with the Peace Corps or in education.

Council accepts new 'corp' yard

Campbell's new $168,000 corporation yard on Dillon Ave. at the creek, being constructed by Pete Cristich & Sons, was officially accepted by the City Council on Monday night.

Bill Wren, public works director, recommended the acceptance (payable within 35 days when all the bugs are ironed out). He explained that because of the lease-purchase arrangement under which it was built, no progress payments have been made to date.

The City of Campbell has contracted with Equitable Leasing to pay for the corporation yard over a five year period.

Wren also reported on another major construction in which the city is involved, Local Improvement District No. 18, by which Hamilton from Bascom to the freeway; Bascom from Hamilton south and Campbell Ave. from Bascom to the freeway will be widened and improved.

The total project, including the undergrounding of utilities, sewer lines, etc., will exceed $500,000.

At the public hearing of LID No. 18 held on June 17, the City Council overruled all the objections presented by a minority of property owners in the LID and gave the final go ahead signal to the huge project.

Wren reported that the first of the joint installations affecting the project, the installation of sewer lines by Sanitation District No. 4, is ready to go and that it was hoped that it will be completed before the other activities begin on the roadway.

The sewer project, he added, will exceed $6000 and is part of the overall LID program.

THAT IS QUITE A CAKE--Mrs. Rita Storey, instructor in West Valley College's Food Services and Restaurant Management program admires a 150-pound cake prepared by fellow admirer Kim A. Seifert and other West Valley graduates of the food service program. Campbellite Seifert, a member of one of the two classes which took seven separate sessions to create the confection, has accepted a fulltime food services position with a Los Angeles hospital.

WVC chemistry teacher goes to institute

West Valley College chemistry instructor Edward I. Peters is participating in a six-weeks National Science Foundation summer institute, according to Dean of Instruction Dr. Gordon Aumack.

The institute, held at Oregon State University in Corvallis, is aimed specifically at college and community college instructors of chemistry. It is designed to increase both knowledge of subject matter and methods of student motivation as well as bring participants into stimulating contact with prominent scientists active with the national foundation. In addition, Peters will have an opportunity to discuss and solve mutual problems with other college level teachers of science.

Peters, a West Valley chemistry teacher since 1965, has a masters degree in chemical engineering from Northwestern University, Illinois.

Agents question city's life bid

Based on recommendation of Geoffrey Whitaker, city finance director, and approved by City Manager Bob Stephens, the City Council on Monday night awarded the life insurance contract for the city to Safeco Insurance with Stivers Insurance Service as the agent.

Some of the unsuccessful bidders, however, voiced displeasure with the city's action.

The successful bid, the lowest of the more than 40 that were received, submitted $4,839.60 for the annual premium. Two other agents, J.D. King Corporation and The Parton Co., also represent Safeco.

Whitaker summarized the bids in a written report to the City Council. Since June 4 when the bids were submitted the city staff had reviewed and analyzed the various proposals. The recommendation of Whitaker was based on this study.

The awarding of the bid to Safeco was objected to by Ken Mantle, representing New York Life. He claimed that the New York Life, if dividends were considered, could be lower than Safeco.

He also maintained that the other bidders did not follow the specification as pertaining to term insurance conversion.

Whitaker explained that dividends could not be guaranteed and thus there was no knowing what the annual savings would be. He said it would require a 25% dividend for New York Life to go under Safeco.

Letters to the Editor

THANK YOU NOTE

Dear Mr. Vierhus,

Just a little note to thank you for the very kind attention that you and the staff of the Campbell Press have shown me and my family in your issues of June 5th and June 12th of this year.

Not only have the references been very flattering but they have also provided an opportunity to renew old acquaintances; for many people have either written or telephoned after reading the articles that appeared in your newspaper. One friend even had a copy of another June Press dating back to 1961, the year we graduated from St. Lucy's Grammar School.

Incidentally, I thought you would like to know that the June 12th issue did not mark the first time a Lauro has appeared in the Editorial section of your paper. Several years back, an editorial featured a speech by my father against unethical real estate practices.

Once again, thank you for your consideration.

Yours sincerely,
Phil Lauro

Flashing signals tend to confuse some drivers

Almost everyone knows what to do when confronted with a normal signalized intersection, at which green, yellow and red lights are successively displayed.

However, some drivers become confused about whether a full stop is necessary when they see a traffic signal emitting rapid intermittent red or yellow flashes, according to Captain R. P. Bliss of the San Jose Area office of the California Highway Patrol.

"Whenever a driver sees a red flashing signal, he must come to a full stop before entering the intersection, whether or not there is a stop sign at that intersection", the Commander said.

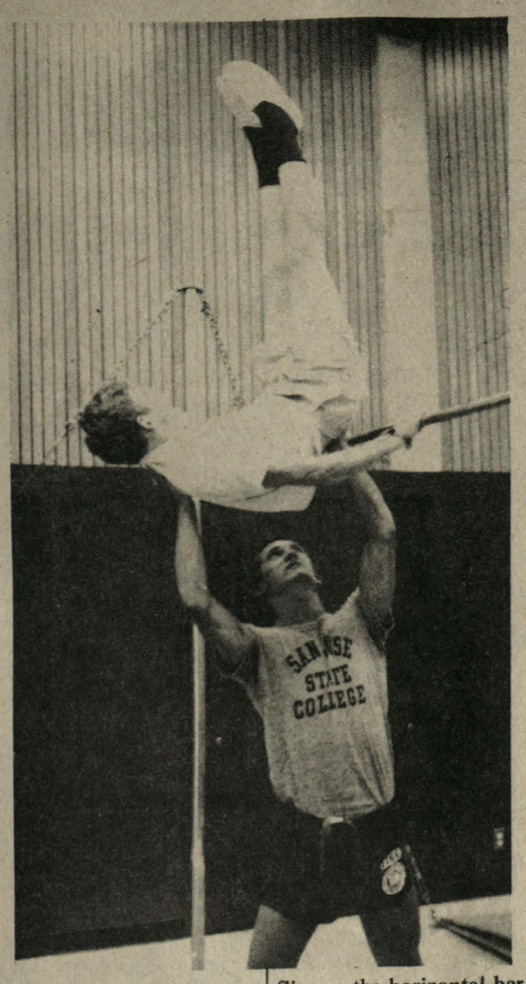
Summer recreation includes gymnastics, swimming and school



UP AND OVER---Eighth grader Bill Gerould from Rolling Hills School, is being "spotted" by instructor Joe Sweeney as he tries a reverse flip on the horizontal bar, as part of the gymnastics program in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District summer recreation.

The summer recreation program for elementary age children is already under way in some areas, with other sessions starting this week.

The summer gymnastics program at Rolling Hills and Monroe schools, started June 16, with the next session scheduled for June 30. The four two-week sessions offers instruction in tumbling, trampoline, floor exercise, vaulting, horizontal bar for boys and balance beam for girls. During the June 30 session only parallel bars for boys will be offered at Monroe school and uneven parallel bars for girls at the Rolling Hills school.

Four 1½ hour classes are available during the day and one two-hour class, primarily for the older or more advanced gymnast are available. Class times open to all school aged children and adults are starting at 9 a.m., with the last class ending at 3:30 p.m. for the younger or less experienced, Monday through Friday.

Fee for the course is $7.50 for the short classes and $10 for the two-hour classes. Family rates begin with the third child.

Don Peckham is directing the course assisted by five San Jose State College gymnasts, Mary Ann Carvelho, Sandra Nash, Carolyn Melvin, Joe Sweeney and Steve Sinsel.

Further information on the gymnast program may be had by calling 378-3405, ext. 33.

Summer recreation programs will be held at all of the Campbell elementary schools except Rolling Hills and Campbell starting June 30 and ending August 1. Arts, crafts, movies, story hours and special events are planned Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Swimming lessons will be given at all of the Campbell Union High School District schools. Five sessions will be held between June 16 and Aug. 22, during the morning hours starting at 9:50 a.m. Students must be at least 49 inches tall.

Campbell and Prospect High School pools will be open under the Campbell Union High School recreation program, with the six other Campbell High School pools under the supervision of the San Jose Recreation Department in cooperation with the Campbell district.

Recreational swimming will be available Monday through Sunday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. June 16 through August 22. Adult swim lessons will be held at the Blackford pool Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and at the Camden Pool on Monday and Wednesday, 7 to 8:30 p.m. with the next session starting July 21 and adult recreation following each lesson from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Other classes included in the swim program are advanced swimming, diving, handicapped recreational swimming, lifesaving, if requested, and junior classes, and "Mother and Tot" classes. Information available by calling the swimming pools.

The West Valley College is also planning a Summer Outdoor School for children between the ages of 9 and 12. Natural science, arts, crafts, PE and aquatics are studied.

A summer music program is also under way at the Campbell Elementary School.

So any child who complains of "nothing to do" during the summer just doesn't know what is going on.
